

Overview

In this assignment, create a multi-section, single-page web site about yourself. In the site, include information about your professional experience and education.

Requirements

To successfully complete this project, the following requirements must be completed:

- Create a single html page (index.html), which will contain the following sections:
 - “Homepage” (doesn’t actually need a section title since it’s first)
 - The first section of the portfolio site is where users will “land.”
 - This section should have a recognizable, business-appropriate picture
 - Full name
 - A brief professional summary, including interests
 - A statement of the mission or purpose of this site. Aside from it being an assignment, what are the site’s goals or purposes? Describe the audience for the sites viewers (i.e. your professors, potential employers, etc). This should be similar to the objective statement in résumés.
 - Remember: first impressions are very important so try hard.
 - Résumé
 - This section will have a professional résumé formatted to look like a printed résumé.
 - Summarize experiences, including both paid and any other (volunteers) activities that support the field of study and intended job.
 - For each item here, list the name, location and dates, as well as information about work experiences learned and/or used at this “job.”
 - Be sure to include any special awards or recognitions.
 - Include any “success stories” from a job. (For example: Redeveloped portions of the inventory reporting system resulting in a 400% speed increase in report production.)
 - Be sure users will have a way to get a print-formatted résumé.
 - Provide a link to a PDF file created from the résumé page.
 - Consider creating a print style sheet in addition to a PDF file (to grab some bonus points).
 - This résumé section must be written in HTML; the PDF should be accessible through a link.
 - It’s not acceptable to simply write for this section something like “This will be my resume once I have some experience”. Everyone has some experience doing something.
 - Education
 - This page will include educational background information.
 - Provide a little more than just schools and dates here, such as school information/quick facts, groups in which you participated in the school, etc.
 - This page will probably be fairly small; at the very least, include high school and Algebra
 - Personal
 - List hobbies, clubs, and other items of interest that relate to your background.
 - Include here anything relevant; even interests and pastimes can be insightful.
 - Other sections
 - Optionally include other pages as well. For example, if graphic design is part of your skill set/job focus, include a section that demonstrates expertise or capability.
 - If there is a particular area of the industry in which you have a strong interest or has become your professional focus, include a section describing that interest and participation in the field.

NAPOMENA:
Sve što je žuto je OPTIONAL!

Neke stvari nismo učili pa to napravite samo ako znate!

- Navigation
 - A navigation menu must contain links to all sections of the site.
 - Be sure to include a descriptive title for the site in the `<title>` tag.
 - Consider how the user might be able to navigate between sections.
- All content must be correctly spelled and grammatically correct.
- Use HTML tags to apply appropriate semantic page markup.
- Use HTML tables only to present tabular information.
